(From the National Intelligencer.) Daniel Webster and the Morning. We give place to the beautiful thoughts of Daniel Webster on beholding sunrise at the beautiful capitoline city of 'THE OLD DOMINION," seated on Shockoe and Church Hills, which look down on the romantic valley of the James river.

"RICHMOND, OCT. 16, 1850, 1 5 o'clock, A. M. "MY DEAR SIR: Whether it be a favor or an annoyance, you owe this letter to my early rising. "Beau iful descriptions of morning abound in all the languages; but they are strongest perhaps in the East, where the sun is frequently the object of worship. King David speaks of taking to himself the wings of the morning. This is highly poetical and beautiful. The wings of the morning are the beams of the rising sun. It is said that the "Sun of Right eoussness shall rise with healing in his wings,'-a morning that shall scatter life and health, and joy throughout the universe. Mil on has fine descriptions of the morning, but not so many as Shakspeare, from whose writing, pages of the most delightful imagery, all founded on the glory of the morning, might be fil-

Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American walks It is particularly recommended to those per whose constitutions may have been impaired by continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of continuous use of artent spirits, or other forms of dis-sipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quicken-ing every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vizor in the system. NOTICE — Whoever expects to find this a beverage wiit be disappointed; but to the sick, weak and low spirited, it will prove a grateful aromatic cordial, pos-sessed of singular remedial properties.
